Laird School Construction

Tempe Elementary is one of the oldest districts in the Valley and has a number of aging schools. Laird is the sixth school to be rebuilt from the ground up in recent years.

The $13.5 million, 70,000-square-foot project will serve 644 kindergarten through eighth graders.

The previous Laird School was demoed with a new school currently being built on the existing site. The new facility will include flexible design classrooms, community learning spaces, and play areas separated by students' ages. The current students at Laird are temporarily relocated to Meyer School during the school year while Concord/DLR Group construct their new 21st Century Learning Facility.

The construction team is involving the 4th, 6th, 7th, and 8th grade STEM Students within the construction process, taking their studies and applying them to "real life" circumstances that align with construction activities currently happening at their new school. Activities include sessions on calculating concrete, measuring for millwork, accounting for construction, and marketing in construction.

Construction is scheduled from May 2015– July 2016.

Laird School is temporarily located at Meyer (2615 S. Dorsey Ln Tempe, AZ 85281) for the 2015-2016 school year.

Buses will be available for students enrolled in North Tempe Boys & Girls Club After-School program to be transported from Meyer to the North Tempe Multi-Generational Center during the construction period.
